

Flamingos
TIKE BAR

Menu

Aloha,

One of the earliest and best-known tiki bars was the Beachcomber, created in Los Angeles in 1933 by Ernest Gantt (aka Donn Beach). The bar served a wide variety of exotic rum drinks (including the popular Three Dots and a Dash and Zombie Cocktail) as well as Cantonese food and displayed many artefacts that Gantt had collected on his trips through the tropics. When Gantt was sent to World War II, Don the Beachcomber flourished under his ex-wife's management, expanding into a chain of 16 restaurants and bars.

After returning from the war, Gantt moved to Hawaii and opened Waikiki Beach, one of the two archetypal Tiki bars. The bar was designed to evoke the South Pacific, with palm trees and tiki masks on the walls.

Flamingos Tiki Bar is our tribute to Ernest Gantt himself.

Sit back, grab a drink and relax in the tiki ambiance.
